

Gleeful Girl Gets Her Man Claims Prof

Beauty, Brains Not Enough, Says This Psychologist

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — Get happy, girls, unless you want to wind up an old maid. Beauty and brains are not enough. Neither is good home cooking.

Dr. H. K. Moore, Arkansas A. and M. college psychologist, has blasted some of the old notions about why Aunt Minnie never married.

Dr. Moore compared 176 wives and 176 spinsters on a list of 104 traits. His findings:

Both groups are about equal in beauty, intelligence and enjoyment of housekeeping.

But the spinsters seldom smile.

The study found that the old maids are not a happy group. Furthermore, the spinster has an unhappy disposition, fears sex and childbirth, and is a self-centered fault-finder who always wants to have her own way.

Dr. Moore's results are published in an article in Family Life, the monthly organ of the American Institute of Family Relations here.

He writes that the spinsters' trouble is that they were educated too much for careers instead of for marriage. As a result, the old maid finds it hard to treat men naturally—she is likely either to appear indifferent or over-anxious when men notice her.

The study did not point out whether the spinsters were unhappy and unsmiling because they were spinsters.

Carlos Harmon Is Injured in Auto Crash

A Dixon driver was seriously injured Saturday when his car hit a concrete abutment on Rt. 52 north of the Plum Hollow golf course.

Carlos Harmon, 42, of 418 E. Morgan st., apparently lost control of the car as he was heading south toward Dixon, crossed the pavement, hit the culvert abutment and overturned.

Harmon was taken to KSB hospital where his condition was reported this morning as "good."

Witnessed Crash

Richard Glasser, 21, who was moving grass across the road from the accident occurred said he saw the car hit the abutment and overturn. He said his vision of the accident was partially blocked as he was on a slope away from the road.

Carroll Yeast said he looked out of his window when he heard the crash and saw the car travelling through the air. The car landed near Yeast's driveway.

Yeast Calls Sheriff

Yeast called Sheriff Charles Redebaugh who investigated the accident with state highway patrolman Don Sachs, Ashton. Yeast also called an ambulance.

A second accident almost occurred at the same spot when Army Sgt. Charles Bean, no address given, just missed a culvert on the other side of the road. He stopped and helped pull Harmon out of the car.

Harmon was said to have been conscious when taken from the car but lapsed into unconsciousness when placed in the ambulance.

The car he drove was a dealer's car from the Harmon Motor Sales company. It was demolished. There were no passengers.

Select Jury In $12,900 Dram Suit

Selection of a jury was in progress in circuit court this morning in the $12,900 dram shop suit brought by Mrs. Albert Neom, Sterling, against Evelyn O'Hare, operator of the Brown Shingle tavern near Dixon.

Mrs. Neom wants $12,000 damages for personal injuries, $600 for damage to her car and $300 for hiring household help while she was recovering. She charges the defendant sold liquor to Virginia Ague July 30, 1949, before Miss Ague's car crashed into the rear of the Neom machine on Alt. 30 opposite the state police headquarters west of Sterling.

Shelve Rent Controls for Stores, Offices

HST's Request Set Aside by Senate Group

Committee Moves To Other Points In Defense Act

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The senate banking committee today threw overboard, for the present at least, President Truman's proposal to impose rent controls on stores, office space and other commercial property.

As the senate banking committee began 20 days of hearings on Mr. Truman's request for a two-year extension and revision of the defense production act, Chairman Maybank announced the committee's finding, reached at a closed session.

There will be no testimony on commercial rents because there has not been sufficient study of the question, Maybank said. Written briefs will be received, however, and the question will be left to the end of the hearing "if it is taken up at all."

Opposes Rollback

Maybank also declared his personal opposition to the beef price rollback announced by the Office of Price Stabilization, and declared he was against "tampering in any way" with the parity provisions which govern ceilings on food.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson was called as the committee's first witness. The present law, which includes wage-price control authority, expires June 30. In request for a two-year extension, Truman on April 26 also asked congress for additional authority to curb inflationary pressures, which he said "have not yet reached their peak."

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston told a reporter yesterday that wage-price controls are throttling inflation, but they can't do the job for long without higher taxes and restricted credit curbs.

Crisis Next Fall

Johnston predicted that inflation's "real fire" will begin next fall and the country must be ready to hold it in check or mobilization cost will soar sky-high.

The administration proposal which has stirred the greatest controversy would authorize a year-at-a-time freeze of farm parity in an effort to check food prices.

Farm state lawmakers protested vigorously, saying there is no justification for any such action.

Stores, Restaurants Inspected by OPS

Special agents from the Peoria OPS office are inspecting taverns, grocery stores and restaurants in this area to see if they are complying with OPS regulations.

John M. Kerwin, OPS director, has ordered enforcement officers to warn these establishments that if OPS reports are not filed within five days, court action will be taken.

Grocers are required to file Form 5. Restaurants and taverns are required to file a statement on their own letterhead of base period gross business, base period food (beverage) sales and percentage of food and beverage sales to gross sales. This report was due April 30.

Larry Buckmaster, Wilmette, was elected president at the convention to succeed McGlothlen. Eleven vice presidents were named.

Elect Justice William J. Fulton

The voters of this supreme court district, a part of which is comprised in our own circuit court district, have two important issues to decide at the judicial election June 4. Justice William J. Fulton, Sycamore, a revered and talented jurist, is a candidate on the Republican ticket to succeed himself on the Illinois supreme court. His defeat would be a distinct loss to the highest state court and his election is important to the people, as well as the courts of Illinois.

The confusion and smoke of battle that is being occasioned by the contest for the three circuit court positions in the 15th district must not obscure the great importance of winning the election of Justice Fulton. There is a surging revolt taking place among the Republican and Independent voters of this district who are outraged over the attempt by the Republican county central committee in Lee county to brush off the candidacy of Atty. Robert L. Bracken, of Dixon, and Republicans all over the judicial district are in a militant march to show, the convention manipulators that the voters still have something to say.

When Bob Bracken was nominated as the only Democratic candidate for circuit judge it gave the rank and file of voters a chance to express their true desires.

But these Republican and Independent voters will never want their ambition to see Bracken on the circuit bench interfere with their equally great respect for the abilities of Justice Fulton and their loyal enthusiasm for his candidacy. The DeKalb county candidate, Justice Fulton, is extremely well fitted for his position. He is famed as a wise, fair and learned jurist and no member of the supreme court can outrank him in capability. He is supremely equipped to continue to be a great credit to this district and the entire state.

The Evening Telegraph was for Justice Fulton before his nomination, fought in convention for his nomination and now, more than ever, is proud to be able to endorse his candidacy and urge his election. He is a great and fine judge and we ask that you give him your vote.

Judge Weighs Motion to Quash Indictment Against Lambersky

Public Defender Walter W. Stevens contended in circuit court this morning that the grand jury indictment of Alex Lambersky, 23, Dixon state hospital patient, for manslaughter was unconstitutional.

Stevens filed a motion to quash the indictment on grounds that it violates the state constitution. While Stevens did not mention his specific grounds in court, he later told a Telegraph reporter that it is his belief that testimony taken at a coroner's inquest cannot be presented to a grand jury which is considering indictment of a person.

Lambersky, a former Chicago resident, is charged with the strangulation slaying of Kenneth LaRoy, nine-year-old patient at the hospital.

Wants Competency Test

Immediately after Stevens presented his motion Assistant State's Attorney George Nichols said that he had filed a motion requesting a mental competency test for the accused.

Judge George C. Dixon said he would take both motions under consideration but he announced no time for arguments on the questions.

Gets 3-10 Years

In other circuit court criminal action this morning Klyne (Casey) Flynn, 23, R. 1, Dixon, was sentenced to serve from three to 10 years in the state penitentiary for burglary and violation of probation. He received the same sentence on each count but the sentences will run concurrently.

Charges of larceny in two burglaries were dismissed.

Flynn was returned last week from Astoria, Ore., for leaving the state without permission of the court. He was on probation for the 1947 burglary of the Snack Shop in Dixon.

A confession of the $50 burglary of the Ty Club March 28 was read in court after Flynn pleaded guilty to burglary. It was brought out that Flynn already has served 27 months at the Illinois state farm on three charges of violating his 1947 probation. Two sentences were for drunkenness and fighting and the third for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Apply First Paint

"CLEAN-UP WEEK" committee Chairman Ed Mack, left, Mayor William Slothower, and Ralph E. Webb, business agent of the painters' union, are shown slapping on the first paint at the Lee's A. M. E. church Saturday morning. On the right, Phil Hippert, union local president, is holding the paint bucket and the Rev. C. H. Peigh, pastor of the church, is watching the ceremonies. The entire church was painted in a record-breaking 2½ hours.

All Set to Go to Work

PAINTERS OF LOCAL 1081 are shown mounting ladders and scaffolds preparing to redecorate the Lee's Mission A. M. E. church, 509 W. Seventh St. It took 25 painters just 2½ hours to paint the entire building. The painters donated their services and the paint was donated by local merchants. The project was sponsored by the chamber of commerce "Clean-Up Week" committee.

son of Mrs. Mabel Dempsey, 311 Hand av., Dixon, has been wounded in Korea, according to word received by his mother from the Defense department.

Dempsey is a private in the marine corps. His wounds were reported as not being serious and he has not been evacuated from Korea.

He was a member of the marine corps reserve and was called to duty, Aug. 21, 1950. He landed in Korea, March 3. Dempsey served nine months in the marine corps during World War II but was not overseas.

A son, Larry Eugene Dempsey, lives with Dempsey's mother.

Painters Give A.M.E. Church 'Face-Lifting' in 2½ Hours

Lee Center A. M. E. church now holds the distinction of being the only building in Dixon completely painted in 2½ hours.

This was done Saturday by members of Painters' Union No. 1081 from Dixon, Rock Falls, Sterling and neighboring communities as part of the "Clean-Up Week" activities of the Dixon chamber of commerce.

The building was painted a sleek slate grey with a brown trim by more than 25 painters. No one could recollect when the building was last painted.

The "Clean-Up Week" officially ended yesterday. But many local residents have taken the example of the painting of A.M.E. church and are going to have their property redecorated.

Paper, Scrap Drive

Sunday the Boy Scouts conducted a paper drive and the Amvets a scrap drive.

More than 30 gallons of paint were used to cover the estimated 3,700 square feet of the church building. More than 50 paint brushes were used to apply the paint.

Members of the church congregation were grateful to the union, the chamber of commerce and the merchants who supplied the paint. One woman told Chairman Ed Mack of the "Clean-Up Week" committee that she couldn't find words to express her gratitude.

Donate Services

Officers of the painter's union who donated their services in the church project were Ralph E. Webb, Dixon, business agent, Phil Hippert, Dixon, president, Harold Dodd, Sterling, vice president, Ronald Biggers Dixon, recording secretary, H. G. Healey, Sterling, treasurer.

Ladders, scaffolds and other equipment for the project were furnished by the painters and contractors of local 1081 and by the Dixon State hospital.

Local Leaders In Sunday Tour Of KSB Hospital

Dozens of representatives of Dixon civic organizations, industries and others interested made a tour of the Katherine Shaw Beetha hospital yesterday on invitation of the hospital board and also attended a reception at the nurses home.

The purpose of the event was to acquaint Dixon people with the facilities and equipment of the local hospital and to point up the need for expansion and added facilities that will be necessary to keep the local institution abreast of the progress in modern methods and equipment.

Red Retreat Continues as UN Forces Take Up Slack in Lines

TOKYO—(AP)—South Korean infantrymen pushed the ends of the battle line northward today. Other U. N. forces took up the slack in between while armored patrols probed for withdrawing Reds.

South Koreans pressed across the 38th parallel toward Red-held Inje in the east. Other Republic troops moved the western anchor of the Korea fighting line further northwest of Seoul.

Red Casualties Light

Extent of the ground fighting was indicated by the U. S. Eighth army's estimate of 570 Red casualties Sunday. This doesn't approach the daily toll of the Red offensive. The nine-day toll was estimated by the U. N. command at 75,000.

Jets Bomb Supplies

American jets left their rockets behind for a mass bomb attack on Red troop, supply and transport centers north of the Communist capital of Pyongyang. Thirty-five Shooting Stars made bomb raids in three waves on railroad yards in the Suncheon area.

The Pyongyang radio claimed six U. N. planes were shot down and five airmen captured. The Allied command does not comment on Red propaganda claims.

Says Deposed General Would Risk Third War

Fired Because of Basic Differences With Truman, Staff

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall contended to senators today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Korean war proposals would risk "an all-out war with the Soviet Union."

But under questioning from Senator Russell (D-Ga.) Marshall said this country is now "discussing" with other nations one of the deposed Far Eastern commander's recommendations, a naval blockade of Red China. He added: "We have not brought the issue up as a formal proposition for them to refuse."

Replying to MacArthur's attacks on the administration's Far Eastern policies, Marshall also said:

1. The Truman administration's unwavering policy is to deny Nationalist-held Formosa to the Chinese Communists and to oppose seating of the Reds in the United Nations.

2. A Jan. 12 memorandum of the joint chiefs of staff, which MacArthur contended supported his proposals for fighting the Korean war by direct action against Communist China, was drafted for use if American troops had to withdraw from Korea.

3. The memorandum was discarded when it became apparent that American troops had turned the tide of battle.

4. The memorandum contained 16 courses of recommended action, only four of which were quoted by MacArthur in his testimony. "It was" to senators by quiring into his dismissal as Far Eastern commander and policy dispute involved in it.

5. MacArthur was fired because of "basic differences of judgment" not only with the president, but the chiefs of staff and Marshall himself.

Risk Losing Allies

Testifying at a closed session with his "combed" testimony made public later, Marshall said MacArthur's plan would risk an all-out world conflict "even at the expense of losing our allies and wrecking the coalition of free peoples throughout the world."

MacArthur has proposed intensification of the economic squeeze against Red China, blockade of its coasts, air operations over Manchuria and use of Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa.

Marshall said MacArthur "would have us, on our own initiative, carry the conflict beyond Korea against the mainland of Communist China, both from the sea and from the air."

"He would have us accept the risk of involvement not only in an extension of the war with Red China, but in an all-out war with the Soviet Union," the Defense secretary said, adding:

Would Expose Europe

"He (MacArthur) would have us do this even though the effect of such action might expose Western Europe to attack by the millions of Soviet troops poised in Middle and Eastern Europe."

MacArthur had argued that his

This Will Explain OPS Order Allowing Industry Price Hike

WASHINGTON, (AP) — This is an explanation of an order recently issued by Eric Johnston, economic stabilizer, on when industries can boost their prices and when they can't.

The order can be understood best, perhaps, by going back a bit and working up to it. The whole price control story started Jan. 26 when the Office of Price Stabilization, ordered all prices frozen.

This drastic decision was put into effect suddenly to halt rising prices because OPS didn't have the time then to figure out a method of price control that would be fair to everyone. That could be done later.

So the nationwide freeze of Jan. 26 was, and was intended to be, only temporary until OPS could get around to the job of figuring out price ceilings for the various industries and business and individual items.

Emphasis on Industry
In this story the emphasis is on an industry, which is not just one firm, since an industry is made up of many firms, all turning out the same kind of product. For instance, women's coats and suits.

Now suppose some firm in an industry feels that the OPS regulations covering that industry, and issued since the general freeze of Jan. 26, are going to force it to the wall. What can it do to save itself from ruin?

Can Appeal
It can appeal—as a hardship case—to OPS for special treatment, asking that it be allowed to charge prices higher than those otherwise permitted by OPS for the industry.

But suppose an industry—that is, all the firms in an industry—feel that an OPS regulation or ceiling is going to cut down too much on the profits of the firms in that industry. What then?

The industry, as a whole, can appeal to OPS to change the regulation or ceiling to allow the industry higher prices and, therefore, higher profits. Does OPS just go ahead and do so?

This is where Johnston's order, which he issued on April 21, comes into effect. This, boiled down, is pretty much what he said:

No industry will be allowed higher prices if the average profits of that industry are not more than 15 per cent below what the industry's average profits were in any of three years between 1946-49, inclusive.

Here's Formula
Does OPS step in and let all those individual firms with profits more than 15 per cent below their profits in 1946-49 just go ahead and raise prices so they can stay ahead, even though they're losing money through inefficiency?

No. OPS doesn't look at the individual firms in such a case at all. It examines the average profits for the whole industry and at all. It examines the average profits for the whole industry in the 1946-49 period.

If it finds the average for the whole industry is more than 15 per cent below the average for the whole industry in the 1946-49 period, it can allow all the firms in the industry to raise prices.

Mac Takes Rest

NEW YORK, (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur—"glad the (senate) hearings are over"—plans to remain in New York City this week.

The general rested in his Waldorf-Astoria hotel suite yesterday after three full days of testimony in Washington before joint sessions of the senate armed services and foreign relations committees.

Mrs. MacArthur and their 13-year-old son, Arthur, attended services in St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal church, across the street from the Waldorf-Astoria.

The first schoolhouse in Steward was erected in 1882 at a cost of $3,000. Fire destroyed this building in 1903 and the present structure, costing $7,000 succeeded it. It offered 10 grades of work.

Mac's Endurance, Patience as Witness Before Senate Lauded

WASHINGTON, (AP)—He was stern sometimes, like a prophet on a mountain top. And then again he was gentle, filled with compassion for the suffering war-stricken. By turns he was curt, genial, wistful.

Senators who heard Gen. Douglas MacArthur plead his case in three days of almost uninterrupted testimony were pretty well agreed that whether he was right or not, he was magnificent as a witness.

It was getting dark on Saturday when the general finished. Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the armed services committee told him:

"I have never seen a man subjected to such a barrage of questions in so many fields. . . ."

Praises Mac
"I marvel at your physical endurance. More than that, I have been profoundly impressed by the vastness of your patience and the thoroughness and frankness with which you have answered."

Said MacArthur: "I value every minute of the time I have spent here in the company of these distinguished gentlemen. I claim each and every one a friend, whatever their feelings may be towards me."

That was the general at his courtliest. But he could be indignant, too:

"I resent, with every fiber in my body, any inference that can be drawn that I have been in any degree insubordinate or disrespectful of the president of the United States, or the policies of this country, or even of the policies and directives of the United Nations."

Enemy Has Begun
And he could sound the prophetic note: "I believe this, senator: That the initiatory action of your potential enemy is already under way. I believe if you don't meet it in Korea, you are doomed to destruction."

MacArthur could be sorrowful: "The Japanese people, more than any other people in the world, understand what atomic warfare is. They counted their dead, and they buried them."

And he could be wistful: "It had been my hope that I would be able to see my missions through."

Not Possible
He could convey the agony of helplessness: "In all conscience, I could not go on ordering men to their deaths by the thousands, in such a complete vacuum of policy decision."

The general was not slow to defend himself: "I don't see how it would have been humanly possible to predict such an attack as that (the invasion of South Korea) any more than you could prevent such an attack as took place at Pearl Harbor."

He indulged in irony at times: "We are not making great progress (toward world peace) along the normal lines of diplomacy."

Chrysler FirePower — Finest engine ever put in an automobile

180 HORSEPOWER

The new Chrysler Hemispherical Combustion Chamber, heart of the finest car engine built today. In this dome-topped area, you see the only ideal combustion chamber... the only way to develop full combustion, full compression, full work and value from every drop of fuel!

With so many engines claiming newness... how can we call FirePower the only new type engine today? The answer's very simple, and one you ought to know before you invest in a car. The fact is that engine "improvements" happen every year... but a basically new motor car engine is a very rare thing. And FirePower is the most basic new development since Chrysler introduced high-compression in 1924!

To get to the heart of the matter, just go to the heart of the engine... the combustion chamber where the spark fires gas into power. Here Chrysler brings you something no car has had till now... a Hemispherical combustion chamber... the only, perfect and ideal combustion chamber in any passenger car. Here the same amount of gasoline delivers you far more energy than it could in any other car. What this means to the man at FirePower's wheel is impossible to tell you till you take that wheel yourself. FirePower's 180 horsepower can outperform any other engine on the road, even on regular grade gas.

Remember, too, that Chrysler now offers the wondrous road-ease of new Oriflow shock absorbers with twice the shock-absorbing power of any others... and the exclusive safety and delight of Hydraguide power steering* which takes four-fifths of the work out of steering! You can learn for yourself how Chrysler has changed your motoring life by seeing your Chrysler dealer now!

Gas Tax Hike Bill Comes Up For Showdown

SPRINGFIELD, (AP)—Nearing the showdown stage, the proposed gasoline tax increase comes up for a full scale hearing before the entire Illinois senate tomorrow.

Backers of the two cents a gallon boost are hopeful of steering the bill past the amendment stage without change and bringing it to a passage vote soon thereafter.

The senate hearing is expected to concentrate on the proposed division of revenue under the nickel gas tax program. As it stands, 36 per cent of the income would go to the state, 32 per cent to cities, 11 per cent to Cook county, 12 per cent to downstate counties and nine per cent to townships.

Two major property tax plans also are set for hearings this week.

In the senate, legislation for a new method of fixing downstate tax ceilings is scheduled for a public hearing Wednesday.

The bill would allow cities and other local governments to determine tax limits instead of having the legislature do it. Present ceilings are governed by the so-called Hodge formula, enacted in 1947 and which expires Dec. 31, 1952.

Sponsors of the new method are ready to offer an amendment which would remove school districts from the measure.

The house revenue committee will hear arguments tomorrow on bills to replace the invalidated 1949 county assessment supervisor law.

Another major recommendation of the Schaefer commissions—to abolish the state aeronautics department—is scheduled for a hearing by the house executive committee tomorrow.

The house convenes at 4 p.m. (EDT) today for a regular session.

Convicted Negro Rapist Attempts To Escape Chair

JACKSON, MISS., (AP)—A federal court suit to save Willie McGee was set for a hearing today just 11 hours before the condemned Negro rapist was scheduled to be executed.

Gov. Fielding Wright meanwhile held a clemency plea under advisement. There was no indication when his decision would be announced.

Barring another reprieve—he has had three—McGee will die in Mississippi's portable electric chair at 12:01 a.m., CST, tomorrow. The 37-year-old grocery truck driver has been convicted three times on charges of raping a white Laurel housewife on Nov. 2, 1945.

Time was running out again when defense attorneys filed a civil damage suit in U. S. district court late Saturday during a weekend of pro-McGee protest meetings here and in Washington.

The suit charged that McGee's civil rights had been violated. It asked for an unspecified amount of damages and, for an injunction to bar the execution until the federal court disposed of the suit. Judge Sidney Mize set a hearing for the injunction petition at 1 p.m. today.

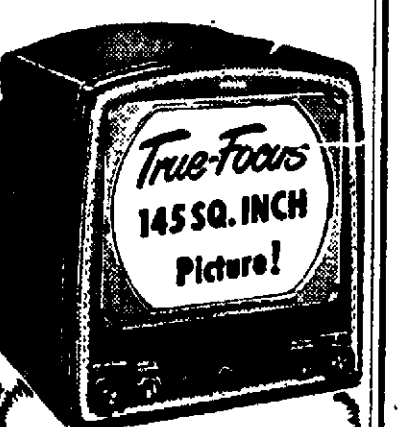

In 1855 Willow Creek was taken from Wyoming township and made a township, and to it the present township of Alto was joined.

ORDER EARLY and Avoid Disappointment

MacArthur Raises Question: Are We Prepared for Reds?

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Out of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's exposition on strategy there emerged today this question for the joint senate committees to ask the Pentagon high command.

How ready is the United States, including the state of her atomic weapon and bomber force preparedness, if Russia chooses war?

The senate's foreign relations and armed services committees asked MacArthur about all the facts of policy and strategy differences which finally led President Truman to fire him, and the Russian enigma appeared and reappeared many times.

Then, late Saturday, near the close of the General's testimony, the riddle came up again.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) contended the MacArthur plan—blockading China, putting aircraft over Manchuria and using Chinese Nationalist troops—might bring Russia into the war.

The General replied:

We Are Prepared

"As far as the initial state of an attack is concerned, you must understand that our own preparedness, atomic preparedness, is far in excess of that of the potential enemy at the present time."

"Within hours after he launched, we could counterattack. Every disastrous and gloomy prophecy that you have made you can multiply against the enemy."

Will Pentagon strategy-makers, Secretary of Defense Marshall and the joint chiefs of staff agree with that view? The joint committees were ready today to begin hearing their ideas, leading off with Marshall.

Needed Bombing

MacArthur testified that if he had been permitted to bomb the Chinese Communist forces assembling north of the Yalu river in Manchuria they would not have been able to advance into Korea in any degree of force or strength. Why wasn't the permission forthcoming?

The formal reason given by Mr. Truman in his April 11 speech to the nation was that to bomb Manchuria and China itself would mean a "very grave risk of starting a general war."

MacArthur contends the risk of intervention by China or Russia has always been present, from the first day when the United States stepped in to help the Republic of South Korea.

Other Reasons?

Are there reasons other than those specified by Mr. Truman? It is quite possible the senators may hear some.

Even if Russia did not openly enter the conflict, come military

Canadian Crash

VANCOUVER, B. C., (AP)—Three railwaymen were killed yesterday when the engine and 14 cars of a Canadian Pacific railway freight train left the rails about 100 miles northeast of here.

Cause of the accident was not immediately known. C. P. R. officials said the crash blacked out telegraphic communications. It was believed the track was clear at the time of the accident.

New Casualties

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A defense department casualty list (No. 296) issued today contained 366 names, of which 50 are dead, 287 wounded, 12 missing and 17 injured in battle zone accidents.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' top Opening Day attendance was recorded in 1949 when 34,530 saw the Dodgers beat the Giants, 10-3.

Wedemeyer Report Proves One General Knew the Score

Lt. Gen. Albert Wedemeyer called the turn in Korea with amazing accuracy. His long-suppressed Far Eastern report, finally released nearly four years after its submission to President Truman, reads like a concise account of Korean history since 1947.

He predicted the Russians would spark a North Korean assault on South Korea as soon as the puppet forces were sufficiently strong and the U. S. troops to the south had been "induced" by the Soviet Union to withdraw.

Wedemeyer recommended that the U. S. organize, train and equip a South Korean "scout force" of sufficient strength to fend off a North Korean attack. He proposed that this army be under U. S. military control and be initially officered by Americans, with a program for gradual replacement by Korean officers.

A South Korean army was established after the U. S. forces withdrew. But though it had the guidance of a U. S. military mission, it was not officered by Americans. Furthermore, it was not equipped with heavy guns and tanks such as might normally be needed to repel an enemy attack.

Why did we not follow Wedemeyer's recommendations as a military expert?

The government takes the position that we could not officer the South Korean army because to do so would make it virtually an adjunct of the American army. Since South Korea was a child of the United Nations and presumed to be under the protection of the UN, it was deemed unwise to take a step that would give too strong an American tinge to the Korean defense effort.

It may be argued that we were not dissuaded from using American officers with the Greek army against rebel Communists, but Greece was not a product of the UN, and we undertook to aid her outside the confines of the UN.

There appears much less solid ground beneath the government's argument on the question of equipping the South Koreans. The excuse for failing to do so was that a well-equipped South Korean force might be tempted to commit aggression itself. President Syngman Rhee of the Republic had more than once voiced the aim of uniting Korea by whatever means he could muster.

But wasn't this an unrealistic attitude for us to hold? It hardly seems likely that Rhee would have dared use his army for aggressive purpose if the U. S. or the UN cautioned him against it. To imagine that he would have been beyond our control was to rate our power and prestige very low.

Our failure to take Wedemeyer's advice on this score, together with top-level statements that we didn't consider Korea defensible, created a power vacuum which stood as an open invitation to the Communists to march in.

But no great good is now to be gained by dwelling upon this mistake. We are in Korea today with our own army, and the big question is how long and for what purpose. The Wedemeyer report can't settle that. Its value is largely in helping set the historical record straight: we know that at least one top soldier understood the realities of Korea three years in advance of the Communist invasion.

No News From Argentina

Juan Peron, president of Argentina, said something the other day about not wishing to associate his country with the active defense of the West now being led by North Atlantic Pact nations.

There can't be much surprise for anybody in this. Argentina stayed luxuriously aloof from World War II until near the very end, and its contribution to the forces of freedom could be measured on one hand.

It will only be news when Argentina reverses its field and shows a genuine interest in the cause of liberty.

What Should Wife Pay for? Question Leads to Trouble

A current national magazine has an article called "What a Working Wife Should Pay For."

Any working wife who starts wondering about that question had better give up her job pronto.

Because if she thinks of her pay check as "hers" and starts trying to figure out just what she should pay for out of her earnings and what she shouldn't have to spend out of her own money, the couple is going to have money troubles.

There is just no logical way for a working wife to figure out what expenses are hers and what ones aren't.

There's the old idea of marriage that says the husband earns the money and pays for everything. And there is the newer set-up where both husband and wife bring home a pay check. But there aren't any rules that say it is the husband's duty to pay for such and such and the wife's responsibility to take care of this and that.

ONLY SAFE PLAN The couple who try to make up their own rules are almost certain to run into difficulties. The only safe plan is for the couple to pool their resources and then decide how they are going to spend "their money."

"My money" and "your money" talk is likely to grow bitter. "My money" and "your money" thinking is likely to grow selfish. And it is almost certain to become confused.

But "our money" talk is married talk—partnership talk. And the woman who is working so that she can "have her own money" would be better off not working. Money that isn't regarded as "ours" never helped a marriage, but it has hurt a lot of them.

HOLLYWOOD, (NEA)—A new comedy Cy Howard is grinding out for Hal Wallis is, according to the whippers, an out-and-out lampoon on David O. Selznick's "Spellbound." Elizabeth Scott is the lady psychiatrist and Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are her patients. Liz, meanwhile, is denying that the tough-grained doll she's playing in "The Racket" has any relation to Virginia Hill. She told me:

"I've played a lot of husky damsels in my life and this one's quite a babe. But she's not Virginia Hill."

Elizabeth Taylor's pals are beginning to worry about her health. Pills, pills, pills.

They're squeezing all they can out of Lime, the character Orson Welles played in "The Third Man." Now it's a sequel, "The Return of Harry Lime."

Television is writing a "Mama Was a Movie Star" routine in the Dennis O'Keefe household. Before her retirement, Mrs. O'Keefe was Steffi Duna. Several of her old films are playing the video circuit and Dennis is beaming:

"It's changed everything. The grocery clerks are saying, 'How do you do, MRS. O'KEEFE' and our kids are bringing friends home to get HER autograph."

Aside to Sally Rand: "It's a Sally Rand" is a stock phrase with Hollywood auto salesmen. It means a bare automobile without any accessories.

HAW'S THAT, LT.?

Note from Lt. George P. Kelly in San Francisco:

"Last January the officers of Fighter Squadron 783, Air Group 102, sent Marilyn Monroe a letter advising her that she had won our Queen Contest and 'the girl we would most like to share the cockpit of our F4U Corsair fighter plane.' We had planned a big party. After waiting 30 days we sent another letter. We are still waiting for a reply. No answer yet."

"Are the glamour girls just too busy these days to break down and accept such honors? We are leaving soon for Korea and are still in the market for a queen. Do you have any suggestions?"

I'm happy to inform Lt. Kelly that another Marilyn—Marilyn Maxwell—has accepted their queen title. The pin-up pictures are on their way.

The wartime GI entertainment block-busters, Bob Hope and Frances Langford, are due for a film reunion in Frances' Columbia movie, "The Purple Heart Diary." The opening sequence will be newsworthy shots of them in action on the war fronts.

Then it will be sexy Frances on her own in the South Pacific torching the GI's favorites, "I'm in the Mood for Love" and "Embraceable You." Frances says she nixed Columbia's first script of the movie but now she's excited about it.

"The first script was just as bad as this one is good."

Hollywood inflation: Even prehistoric animals aren't big enough for movie producers. A brontosaurus in "Lost Continent" measures 120 feet—only about 50 feet longer than any skeleton ever dug up.

MGM has decided on Clark Gable's film future. It'll be sex and action, with only big name feminine co-stars . . . Warner Bros. will film "The Tanks Are Coming." With Bob Hope's theme song, "Thanks for the Memory?"

WHERE SUN SHINES BEST

Reviews on "The Mating Season" have convinced Miriam Hopkins she belongs in Hollywood. She's back from New York and has taken a year's lease on a Beverly home . . . It's Angela Greene as the star of "Jungle Safari" and her description of the part:

"It's not a role I'll just walk through. It's full of action and I run all the way through the picture."

Short Takes: Ruth Roman is burning. She's being re-issued in an old western, "White Stallion," with Ken Maynard as her leading man . . . Sign of the times note: Two TV outfits are bidding for the Eagle Lion film studio . . . A junket of stars to greet General MacArthur in San Francisco was called off at the last moment. He just didn't have time to attend a reception they had planned.

Greer Garson's ex, Richard Ney, is giving up his film career and moving east for TV and stage plays . . . Talking about MGM's new French doll, Genevieve Aumont, Mike Connolly quipped: "She has more lines than Maginot."

Jacoby on Canasta
How to End Hand Quickly

By OSWALD JACOBY

"I don't believe in luck," writes an Austin, Tex., correspondent, "especially when that luck continues for a very long time. My next-door neighbor and his wife keep winning, so I know they must be better than we are. But I can't discover the secret of their success."

Here's what happens in about one deal out of every three. My wife and I get the first discard pile and get down with a few nice-looking melds. It looks as though we ought to make at least one canasta very quickly and perhaps run up a really big score.

Suddenly the hand collapses. One of our friendly enemies puts down a meld, and in one or two more plays the hand is over. Their hands always seem to match, and one of them is able to meld out before we can pile up a decent score.

"This doesn't happen when they get the first discard pile. My wife and I often have to sit through a long drawn-out hand without being able to meld out. Meanwhile the neighbors score a bushful."

"What's the answer? How do they do it?"

My correspondent is the one card player in a thousand who doesn't complain about luck when he is being outplayed. The secret is fairly simple, and even an average player can make use of it.

There are only eleven possible ranks that your side can meld in from the aces down to the fours. You are not likely to make a canasta in any rank melded by the enemy. You are not likely to make a canasta in any rank that your partner discards (unless you have control of the discard pile.)

At the beginning of a hand, you check off the ranks that are improvable. Your partner discards jacks, nines, and sevens, let us say. You have a very bad hand and cannot put up any serious fight for the discard pile. All right—give up. Discard exactly what your partner has thrown. This will often give up the pile.

You and your partner will still have twenty-two cards between you—and neither one of you has any jacks, nines, or sevens. Perhaps you also discard another rank. Do you see what is bound to happen?

The partnership hands must accumulate more and more cards in the same few ranks. As soon as one player makes a meld, the partner can match it to complete a canasta. The whole hand can usually be ended in one or two more plays.

Take a smart tip from Jacoby: The player who knows the rules can play a much better game than the one who's never quite sure. You'll know the answers if you write in for the authoritative 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA. For your copy, send 15 cents in coin with your name and address to Oswald Jacoby, Dixon Evening Telegraph, P. O. Box 438, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

Relocate Vital Organs of Babies, Both Will Survive

SPRINGFIELD—(AP)—Rare operations on two premature infants involving the relocation of vital organs apparently have proven successful, doctors at St. John's hospital said.

The surgeons, who declined the use of their names, reported that one baby had its esophagus and stomach moved to their natural locations, and the other had vital organs placed inside the body from the outside.

The 3½ pound son of Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Eades of Monticello was operated on April 16.

The Eades' baby, doctors said, had a "blind pouch" in the lower part of the neck because the esophagus and stomach were located below their natural places.

The two organs were moved to their proper locations during a four hour operation.

The Eades' infant has been removed from an incubator since the operation and now weighs 4½ pounds. Medical sources said the mortality rates from operations of this type run from 70 to 90 per cent.

St. John's doctors performed the first of a series of operations on the premature son (weight unavailable) of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoffmeister of Taylorville, Ill.

The infant was born with several of its vital organs outside the body. The first operation involved placing the esophagus inside the body. Doctors said the Hoffmeister baby survived the operation in good condition. They said the series of operations will cover a period of two years.

The surgeons declined to name the other organs the infant has outside its body until subsequent operations.

They said that without the operations neither of the infants could have lived.

The first school in Nachusa, built of stone, was erected by Cyrus Chamberlain and presented to the school district. Chester Harrington was the first teacher. Prior to its erection schools were taught in private houses by a man named Sheldon, who was the first teacher in the township.

South Korea Has Plenty of Men, Need American Arms, Says Kim

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

My good friend, D. S. Kim, distinguished member of the South Korean national assembly and director of the big Korean Pacific Press Service, tells me his country has plenty of manpower if it is trained and equipped by America.

"While Americans are being killed in the war," said Mr. Kim, "three million young Korean men are waiting for the chance to fight."

"If America will give us the arms and the training we will do the job. Our men are particularly well equipped because they know the country and its mountainous terrain."

"Korean military experts say that 500,000 Koreans, trained in American military tactics, and having modern equipment, could defeat any number of Chinese. Koreans had experience with the Chinese during the Japanese war."

Mr. Kim and Dr. Helen Kim (no relation), president of the girls' college in Seoul, capital of South Korea, are in America on a goodwill mission. On behalf of the Korean people they have presented to the United Nations "greetings to the free nations of the world and the heartfelt thanks of a proud and agonized people who pray for the days when the promises made by all the nations of the world, that Korea may become a free, unified and independent nation, may be answered."

"We are going to see it through," Mr. Kim told me. "We don't know whether we are going to survive as Koreans, but we won't give up."

"South Korea must be armed and trained for future use. The war may be long. We have plenty of manpower."

"Koreans on the spot have to die anyway, so they might as well be soldiers."

"It takes time to train soldiers, so we need American teachers now, to prepare for the future."

I asked Mr. Kim what he thought about the view held in some U. N. quarters that a compromise peace might be acceptable, leaving North and South Korea separate states. He shook his head, and said:

"You can't compromise with the Communists. That idea won't work. It's all or nothing with them."

"North Koreans and South Koreans are the same. They think the same and act the same—excepting for the 10 per cent of the North Koreans who follow the Moscow directives."

"The 38th parallel (boundary between North and South Korea) is imaginary. The two peoples are homogeneous. There is no such thing as a North and a South Korea."

The Doctor Says:

Hereditary Bleeding Is Not Only 'Royal Disease'

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Hereditary bleeding or hemophilia is an uncommon condition but a serious and puzzling one. It is present only in the male line—and is carried only by the female.

It is commonly known also as the royal disease, because it is believed Queen Victoria of England was the first to carry the hereditary gene. Ten of her male descendants had hemophilia and at least seven of the female ones proved to be carriers. But a similar condition has been observed in puppies so royal ancestry does not appear to be the whole story.

Every victim of true hemophilia is of the male sex. The tendency to easy bleeding crops up early in life and someone who has it must be extremely careful about even the most trifling injury as this can set off a serious hemorrhage. A slight blow on the nose may start bleeding which will prove impossible to stop.

Internal bleeding can occur, too. One of the common difficulties of bleeders is hemorrhage into the joints which causes inflammation and what is sometimes spoken of as hemophilic arthritis. But there is a tendency for hemophilia to get better as age advances. Therefore if the small boy can get through his early years he has a fair chance in the future.

There are some other conditions in which bleeding occurs rather easily and is difficult to stop. So one must not jump to the conclusion that every difficulty of the sort is true hereditary hemophilia. But when this diagnosis is made there is not as yet any thoroughly satisfactory treatment. Blood transfusions are frequently given and these may help.

EXERCISE CARE

Other methods are sometimes applied and it seems not unlikely that research workers who are actively studying the origins of hemophilia will eventually come up with an effective treatment.

In the meantime sufferers from hemophilia, whether they trace royal descent or not, have to exercise the greatest care to avoid any injury which might start uncontrollable bleeding.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Governor Explains Use of Stationery By Coast Gambler

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — Gov. Stevenson says a Springfield legislator has a "taste for unverified accusations" in making charges of wasteful spending by the state department.

It was the latest episode in a letter writing exchange between Stevenson and Rep. G. William Horsley, a Republican.

Horsley wrote the Democratic governor last Thursday that official Illinois stationery has been used by a Hollywood gambler to solicit bets from Illinois residents.

In his reply Saturday, the governor said:

"The bond paper bearing the state seal watermark was purchased from the Birmingham and Prosser company and manufactured by the Fox River Paper company, Fox River, Wis."

"In the manufacture of such papers there are often 'over-runs.' Such 'ends or 'culs' are sold by the miller to the Fort Dearborn Paper company, Chicago, a paper dealer which also sells job lots, rejects and imperfect papers."

"This company has an office in California, which probably explains how this stationery reached California."

The governor said that Horsley's "taste for unverified accusations reminds me of the lawyer who said to the jury: 'These are the conclusions on which I base my facts.'"

RAN FOR PRESIDENT

Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, ran for president on the Democratic and Liberal Republican tickets in 1872.

SO THEY SAY

Doctors should think less in terms of scientific medicine and more in terms of mankind.

—Dr. Eugene A. Ockuly, Toledo Academy of Medicine president.

Americans, defend Europe. She needs you and you need her. The camp of liberty must not . . . lose what remains of Europe. Priority is here.

—Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

If a bookmaker offers such odds you can take it won't happen.

—Sid Hales, veteran London bookmaker, offering 1,000 to one odds against outbreak of World War III in 1951.

We cannot measure the speed of our mobilization by the number of new controls on the economy.

—Commerce Secretary Sawyer.

I cling to the hope that the young lives, the blood and suffering of the last war, were not spent as the profligate squanders his inheritance—but from the common ordeal will now rise up a strong and united Europe.

—General Eisenhower.

What the U. S. citizen is entitled to by way of economic benefits seems to have become far more important than his political freedom. This attitude . . . continues to be the chief lure of communism.

—John H. Crider, editor-in-chief, Boston Herald.

There always have been some men of third-rate ability in our government . . . but never . . . have such third-rate standards and objectives flourished so openly and more generally defended.

—Alan Valentine, former economic stabilization director.

Giant Plane Piles Up in New Mexico

Wing Tip Scrapes. Runway on Landing At Kirtland Field

ALBUQUEQUE, (AP)—

A giant B-36 bomber crashed in flames as it tried to land at Kirtland air force base yesterday, killing 23 airmen. The explosion made the base resemble a junkyard.

It was the fifth and worst B-36 crash since the air force put the 138-ton, six-engined bombers—the world's largest—into operation in August 1946. The toll of 23 dead is just three less than the combined deaths in the other four.

Col. Perry C. Griffith, Kirtland commander, said the flaming wreckage "looked like a burning oil field. Flames shot up almost 200 feet in the air."

Two Critical

The survivors were in critical condition at Sandia Special Weapons base hospital. Sandia adjoins Kirtland.

Twenty-two men were killed outright. The 23rd died at Sandia a few minutes later. The bomber, almost as long as a city block, had just finished a three-hour flight from Carswell air force base, Fort Worth, Tex.

Kirtland firefighters arrived at the scene—some two blocks from the Municipal airport terminal—less than four minutes after the crash. The three injured and bodies of 10 dead were thrown clear. Crash crews had to prowl the mangled wreckage for the others.

Winds in excess of 40 miles an hour stirred up a billowing sandstorm and fanned the flames quickly to a parked C-54 air force transport and a small, private cargo plane.

Rattled Windows

Minutes before, the bomber caused windows to rattle and walls to vibrate by roaring not over 400 feet above the city.

Witnesses told this story: The plane approached the east-west runway about 500 feet up. About halfway down the strip, the wingtip scraped the ground. The impact tore the propeller and the cowling from the right outboard pusher-type engine and burst the right jet engine pod. A jet pod on a B-36 contains two auxiliary jet engines. There is one pod on each wingtip, some 230 feet apart.

The plane circled to the right. About three-fourths of the way around the circle, the right wing again dug in, the nose plowed down and the plane exploded. Bits of burning wreckage were strewn over a quarter-mile area.

Need Approval Of Big Loans, Wilson Warns

WASHINGTON, (AP)—

Charles E. Wilson, the nation's mobilization director, has called on state and local governments to get approval before they undertake any borrowing in excess of $1,000,000.

Wilson last night asked that any state, city or county planning such borrowing first obtain clearance of the National Voluntary Credit Restraint committee through its new regional investment banking committees.

The committee itself, a group of private bankers and others working with the Federal Reserve Board to restrict credit, said public works should be deferred unless urgently needed for public health or safety or unless directly related to defense needs.

Wilson also recommended postponing soldiers' bonus payments, war memorials and other sub projects not urgently needed.

He voiced the appeal in letters to governors, mayors and county officials, saying "it is vital that all practicable steps be taken" to reduce non-defense demands for goods and services.

C. of C. Committee Meetings Planned

Two chamber of commerce committees have scheduled meetings for tonight and tomorrow.

Polo Woman Is Injured in Sterling Crash

A Polo woman, Mrs. Carrie Webster, of W. Oregon street, was injured Saturday in Sterling in a traffic accident involving a car and a Sinclair Oil company truck.

Mrs. Webster was taken to Community General hospital where she remained overnight. The car in which she was riding, driven by John W. McInay, 507 W. Mason st., Polo, reportedly failed to stop at a stop sign and collided with the truck driven by J. C. Brophy, Sterling.

Three Injured In Crash, Fire At Rock Falls

Three persons, including a former Dixon resident, were injured when two automobiles collided head-on Sunday night on the Dixon-Rock Falls blacktop and caught fire.

The three are Mrs. Ruth Stoudt, 21, 1211 Avenue J, Sterling, formerly of Dixon, driver of one of the cars; Maynard Hoelzer, 20, Pawpaw, driver of the other, and his companion, Norma Jones, Rt. 1, Rock Falls. All are patients in Community General hospital, Sterling.

Hoelzer was charged in a warrant with driving at an unreasonable speed and was scheduled for arraignment in a Rock Falls justice court when he leaves the hospital today.

State Police Sgt. Ray Cramer of Sterling police headquarters, said that Hoelzer was eastbound on the highway and at a point three miles west of Rock Falls when he lost control of his auto and it swerved into the westbound car driven by Mrs. Stoudt.

Both cars caught fire and the Rock Falls firemen were summoned. None of the occupants suffered burns, however, but the cars were described as almost totally wrecked.

Miss Jones was perhaps the most seriously injured. She has a compound fracture of the left leg near the ankle and was otherwise cut and bruised. Mrs. Stoudt lost a number of teeth, has several ribs fractured and cuts. Hoelzer's jaw was fractured. He also was badly lacerated.

Gas Pedal Sticks, Car Crashes Tree North of Dixon

A runaway car crashed into a tree near the Dixon State hospital Sunday morning causing $300 damage to the hood, bumper and front fenders.

The accelerator in the car, driven by Ronnie Long, 16, of 515 S. Hennepin av., Dixon, stuck to the floor board and Long was unable to control the car.

The owner, Tom Leggett, 16, of 809 S. Ottawa av., who was riding next to Long in the front seat, attempted to grab the steering wheel and bring the car under control.

Richard Hopper, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Hopper, 308 Chamberlin, Dixon, listens to Mrs. R. W. Martindale of Wilmette tell a bit of the history of the log cabin on the Walgreen estate. The cabin whose porch formed the setting for the above picture, was visited several times by Lincoln during his campaign tour through the state. This cabin which has been added to is now in use, but the front room of the original cabin has been left as it was in the early days.

Among the many guests attending open house at Hazelwood, the beautiful Rock River estate of Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Saturday, was Miss Herma Clark, who writes "When Chicago Was Young," for the Chicago Tribune. When the above picture was taken, Mrs. Walgreen, Miss Clark and Mrs. Mabel Johnson Fuller of Chicago, well known in Dixon, being a frequent visitor to Hazelwood, seated from left to right, had paused for a chat in the Cliff House. Over a thousand attended open house at the Walgreen estate Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Walgreen's home was opened at daffodil time for the fourth Illinois Garden Week presented by the Garden Club of Illinois.

Spring cleaning labor-saver

When the house is in a whirl of spring cleaning, many women find that shopping by telephone is a special time and trouble saver. With tire-some shopping hours saved, they can devote more time and energy to the job at hand. We hope it will not be long before every housewife can enjoy the convenience of telephone service.

Many Activities Of Young Mothers Club, Reviewed

Members of the Young Mothers club have had a busy spring season as can be seen in reports of their meetings.

One of the first meetings of the spring for the club was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Eastman. After a short business meeting, two guests, Mrs. W. R. Kitson and Mrs. Earl Benyhoff, were introduced to the 21 members. Miss Agnes Florence, superintendent of nurses at KSB hospital was guest speaker and told of the activities and studies of the student nurses.

Mrs. Eastman presided at the refreshment table for which the clever and amusing centerpiece was a large hand-drawn skunk with the following verse attached: Flowers aren't out; as you can see; but I smell too; and you have me. Those on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Ronald Potter, chairman; Mrs. Goldie Grube, Mrs. James Naylor and Mrs. Ferris Walker.

Hear Dr. Bush
When the Young Mothers club met in mid-April at the Loveland Community House with 20 members and one guest present they heard Dr. Charles Bush, superintendent of Dixon State hospital, talk of the problems one encounters in rearing children. An informal discussion followed with Dr. Bush answering questions.

Mrs. Theodore Moore poured from the attractive tea table prepared by the chairman, Mrs. Edward Uebel and her committee, Mrs. William Cooper, Mrs. Lee Forman and Mrs. Eldon Potter.

Antique, Hobby Show
When the club held their most recent meeting at the Loveland Community House, 26 members and three guests, Mrs. Ralph Cox, Mrs. Corbus Hoffman and Mrs. Henry Schoephorster were present. Also present were Mary Anne Fries, who exhibited her dolls at the hobby show, Delight Glenn, Nancy Naylor and Sally and Susan Snow.

This evening the club held an antique and hobby show with many beautiful and interesting hobbies being exhibited. The program opened with a style show by Delight Glenn, four years old, and three year old Nancy Naylor, modeling clothes designed and made by their mothers. Other hobbies shown were a collection of poems, dolls of different nations, autographs, Indian dolls and needle craft of all kinds. Antique articles included dishes, dolls, a hand operated sewing machine and many others. The program was closed with group singing led by Mrs. Eldon Potter and accompanied by Mrs. Frank Randall, pianist, who also played for the style show.

In the center of the refreshment table was a centerpiece, the work of Mrs. Theodore Moore. This was a Maypole in pink and green surrounded by a group of story book dolls. Those on this committee

Dixon Scouts Plant Camp Ralston Trees

Five hundred pine trees furnished by the state of Illinois were planted at Camp Ralston Saturday by the senior Mariner Girl Scouts and scouts from Troop 10 of Lincoln school. This project was under the direction of Mr. Van Camp, state forester of Oregon, Ill., and Mrs. R. P. Luedtke, senior scout leader of Troop 51. Cliff Martin and A. R. Wilson assisted in this major project.

These trees add much to the beauty of the camp and will be used as Christmas trees.

Arrangements Of Past, Now, Seen in Show

Two special sets of arrangements were of unusual interest to the crowd at the Flower Show at the Loveland Community House last week. These were the invitational arrangements and the "Century of Flowers."

A number of people in this area who are outstanding in the art of flower arranging were asked to bring exhibits. These included Mrs. Lloyd Altig, Ashton; Mrs. Samuel Frank, Rock Falls; Mrs. Paul James, Dixon; Mrs. Lorenzo Westcott, Rock Falls; Mrs. Earl Helms, Sterling; Mrs. Kruse and Mrs. Borop, Walnut; Mrs. Lucie Boxmeyer, Sterling; Mrs. C. O. Howard, Freeport and Harold, Cook, Dixon.

The "Century of Flowers" was done by Dixon Woman's Club members and were arrangements which were characteristic of each decade during the past 100 years. Those exhibiting in this group were Mrs. H. M. Edwards, 1850; Miss Anne O'Malley, 1860; Mrs. J. R. McDaniell, 1870; Mrs. C. A. Mellett, 1880; Mrs. Leroy Glessner, 1890; Mrs. Mellett, 1900; Miss Ruth Brown, 1910; Mrs. H. M. Reynolds 9 Trips Blackhawks in Opener, 5-4

Sitter Stops Rockford Nine To Gain Win

Dixon's Reynolds Wire baseball team jumped off to a happy start Sunday afternoon, taking a 5 to 4 decision from the Rockford Blackhawk athletic club at chilly Reynolds field.

Ronnie Sitter received credit for the Dixon win. He pitched the last seven innings and gave up only two hits. The Blackhawks scored three runs off his offerings in the third inning, but all were unearned.

Travel on Sunday
Next Sunday the Reynolds team travels to Rockford where it meets the Rockford Mattress team in the opening game of its Northern Illinois league schedule.

Dixon's cause looked anything but bright after Rockford had scored its three runs in the third frame. The Blackhawks led 4-1 at that time. However, Manager Armand Riopelle's club came back to score single runs in the third and fourth innings and then punched across what proved to be the tying and winning runs in the fifth.

These runs were gained partly through the generosity of Rockford's pitcher, Mickey Fitzpatrick, who walked Frank Nagy and Bud Mertz to pave the way for a base-clearing triple by Bud Lair.

Dixon Collects 4
All told, Dixon could manage only four hits off the pitching of Rockford's Charley Wilson. Freymiller and Fitzpatrick. But this trio also gave up 11 bases on balls to make the victory easier.

The Blackhawks touched Sitter and Gartner for only five hits. All came in the first five innings. Sitter held the visitors hitless through the last four frames.

STROH'S TAKE TEAM LEAD IN ABC
ST. PAUL, (AP)—The Stroh's of Detroit blasted their way into first place in the team events in the American Bowling Congress tournament last night with a team total of 3,045.

Giants Victims Of New Twist To Hidden Ball Gag

NEW YORK, (AP)—Connie Ryan, Cincinnati second baseman, added a fresh twist to the old hidden ball trick yesterday against the New York Giants.

In the tenth inning of the first game at the Polo Grounds, the Giants' Whitey Lockman reached second with the potential tying run on a single and a sacrifice.

After the sacrifice play, Ryan returned to the bag and said: "Say, Whitey, would mind stepping off for a minute. I want to straighten out the bag."

Whitey obliged. Ryan tagged him with the hidden ball.

"Yer out!" yelled the ump. Whitey turned red. The Reds won, 4-3.

City Tourney Team Leaders Hold Places

Weekend shooting in the Dixon City Association bowling tourney failed to dislodge any of the top teams in the standings. Miller's Chryslerers still are on top as the team event swings into its final two days.

Best weekend performance was turned in by the Megawatts, champions of the Public Service league this season. Firing a 2879 total on Saturday night, the Megawatts took seventh place.

Paced by the fine shooting of John Russell, the Megawatts rolled games of 990, 976 and 913. Russell had 230, 177 and 213 for a scratch series of 620 and a 674 handicap total.

Others to Cash
While the Megawatts were the only shooters to crash the top 10, several other teams shot their way into the top 32 places which will receive prize money. City Laundry had 2839 for 16th place; the Johnson Motor company quintet tied for 20th place with the Landmark team with 2815; and James Billards landed in 22nd spot just a single pin back, totaling 2814 Sunday afternoon.

While things were comparatively quiet over the weekend, the final two nights may produce a shake-up in the standings as several strong teams are slated to roll on the later shifts.

Defending Champs Roll
Leading off Monday night will be the defending champions, Naylor and company, an outfit that won the title last year with one of the highest totals ever posted. Another strong team rolling tonight will be the Manhattan Cafe, winner of two classic league titles.

Slated to bowl Tuesday is District D, the team that tied for the Public Service title during the regular season, and Jim's Tavern, another strong outfit.

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Chicago White Sox had nosed into the first division of the American league today with a 10-7 record, 3½ games off the pace being set by the red-hot New York Yankees who have an eight-game winning streak.

The Sox brushed off the Philadelphia Athletics 4-1 and 8-3 before 14,576 chilled fans in Comiskey park yesterday. Ken Holcombe, one-time Yankee, spun a neat five-hitter to win the opener for his second decision of the campaign. Eddie Robinson singled home two runs during a three-run fifth inning uprising.

HUGH'S VIEWS OF SPORTS

Manager Armand Riopelle announced happily this morning that Lou Bevilacqua will work out with the team this week. The addition of Lou's strong pitching arm and mean bat could make the Reynolds team a tough one to defeat in the Northern Illinois baseball league.

A COMPLETE LEAGUE schedule will be announced this week. The league will be an eight-team circuit this season. Riopelle said today that the Sycamore Sons have joined the loop to bring the league's roster to eight teams.

The Sons have long been one of the toughest semi-pro teams in Northern Illinois baseball circles. While little is known about their 1951 strength, they can be depended upon to field a strong club.

It was a rough weekend for Dixon high school athletes who had their eyes on a trip to Champaign for the annual spring sports finals on the 18th and 19th of this month.

ROCKFORD WAS THE SITE of all the unhappiness. First of all, Dixon's tennis players lost their chance to make the trip southward when all failed to reach the finals in the district meet at East Rockford.

Floyd Acker, the Duke's four-year varsity veteran, was considered a likely finalist. But he was eliminated from singles play by Dale Bjurstrom of East Rockford. Acker won the first set 6-3, then dropped the final two, 4-6, 3-6. Earlier he had taken a first-round match from Woodstock's Fred Howell, 6-3, 6-1.

IN TRACK, DIXON'S Bill Lafferty has been considered the Dukes' best bet as a finalist in the Champaign activities. Bill still has a chance to gain the berth in the broad jump finals he had last year, but he will have to do better than he did in Rockford Saturday.

Lafferty failed to place in his specialty in the East Rockford Relays Saturday, although he did gain third place in the 180-yard low hurdles race.

Bill will be looking for a higher spot next Saturday when he competes in the district meet in Rockford.

OTHER DIXON AREA boys Lafferty will be competing against Saturday in the broad jump are Dick Sharer of Mt. Morris, who placed fourth at Rockford on Saturday, and Wally Delhot of Lee Center who won the Green River Valley conference broad jump Saturday with a 20-foot leap.

WHEN OHIO TRAVELS TO Sheffield for the Little Eight conference track meet on Tuesday, the Bulldogs will not only be shooting for a victory in the meet, but also for the giant trophy awarded to the loop's All-Sports champion. Points toward this award are given for conference victories in football, basketball and track. Ohio leads in the race at the moment, but the Bulldogs' closest rival, Sheffield, is favored to win the Little Eight meet and with it the award.

Both the Dixon high school tennis team and track squad found East Rockford a difficult place to do business in sports action Saturday.

The tennis team had to be satisfied with fourth place in a seven-team field at the district meet. Host East Rockford won the affair, followed by Freeport and West Rockford.

No Qualifiers
Worst of all, Dixon failed to qualify either a singles or doubles entry for the state tennis finals at Champaign May 18-19. Qualifying places were monopolized by East and West Rockford and Freeport. The Duke netmen will be able to get at least a small measure of revenge for this situation on Tuesday when Freeport will be here.

On the track side of the picture, things were just as gloomy. The Dukes could manage only six points in finishing tenth in a 14-team field at the East Rockford Relays.

Once again the host team was the winner of the meet, rolling up 50½ points to top three Wisconsin teams which finished second, third and fourth in the meet.

Dixon's only individual performers who scored points were Bill Lafferty and Ken Gaul. Lafferty took third place in the 180-yard low hurdles and Gaul finished fifth in the half-mile run.

Dixon's junior high sprint medley relay team also placed in its event, taking fourth.

Track activities this week will be pointed toward preparation for the district meet to be held at Rockford.

In golf, Dixon's squad will travel to Sterling this afternoon before entertaining Mt. Morris on Thursday afternoon. The golfers also will be pointing for the state finals eliminations to be held in Rockford on Saturday.

Yesterday I managed to add pleasure to a business trip to Chicago by slipping out to Comiskey Park to see "my" White Sox play ball. I believe they have the makings of an outstanding double play combination in Fox, Carreque and Robinson. These boys click just as EUD BERMAN T-SHIRTS do with their many enthusiastic wearers.

If early performance means anything, the Sox did well in their recent trade with Philadelphia. Big Gus Zernial returned to Comiskey Park in an Athletics uniform and proceeded to show that his heart is still in Chicago. He fanned three times in a row, then hit a weak pop foul out on his fourth try. "Yer out," yelled the Cuban who replaced Zernial, takes a terrific cut at the ball and has real speed on the bases.

DIXON'S NEW CHIEF A VETERAN OF "BEAT"

Former State Patrolman Will Make Changes—Slowly

DIXON'S NEW
Dixon's new police chief, Frank Tyne, is a large, soft-spoken man graying slightly at the temples. But despite his mild appearance and congenial manner, he is a hardened veteran of 19 years of law enforcement work.

Frank, 52, who has occupied the chief's office since he was sworn in by Mayor William V. Slothower Tuesday night, has been on the force here for 13 years. Before that he served as a state officer for six years.

Worked From Sterling
While with the state police he worked out of the Sterling office and became well known throughout northern Illinois. Being a Dixon native, Frank applied for a position on the local department and began his duties May 10, 1938, as a motorcycle patrolman. After riding the cycle patrol for seven years, he spent three years enforcing the law in Dixon as a typical "cop on the beat." In 1948 Tyne was appointed to the newly created office of assistant chief of police.

As assistant chief he had control of the department on the night shift. Tyne is a family man with a wife and daughter, Maurine, 18, who graduated from Dixon high school with the class of 1950. The Tyne family lives at 709 West Second street.

Speaking of future developments on the force the new chief said he intends to give his complete cooperation to Public Health and Safety Commissioner George Lindquist.

In Complete Accord
Lindquist in a talk with officers Monday said he believes Dixon can have one of the "best little police forces in the state." Tyne stated he is in complete accord with Lindquist's idea of "an honest day's pay for an honest day's work."

Today the safety commissioner said tentative plans call for holding a police school sometime this summer at the Loveland Community building. The school would be a refresher course in addition to discussions to bring police up to date on the latest law enforcement developments. Lindquist said he would work with Sheriff Charles H. Redebaugh and FBI agents in arranging for the school.

Plan Target Practice
Another plan is to develop a shooting range for small arms practice. Lindquist said no place has been chosen but the target practice probably will be conducted in some quarry near Dixon.

One definite program to be followed is the study of city ordinances, Lindquist stated. "I am going to get copies of the ordinances for police to read so they will know what laws they are enforcing."

Speaking of the force, Frank said, "We have a bunch of good boys here and I know there isn't one who wouldn't do anything I asked of him. I believe we'll all cooperate and get a good job done."

He added, "I intend to do a lot around here but I intend to do it a little at a time." Frank explained that he is adverse to making a great number of changes in a short period. "You can make too many mistakes that way," he confided.

Legion Honors Amboy Gold Star Mothers

AMBOY—The American auxiliary held an afternoon tea in honor of Gold Star mothers Thursday at the home of Mrs. Oscar Berga. Mrs. Catherine Hammond was chairman in charge of the tea with the past presidents of the auxiliary serving as her committee. Mrs. Myrtle Eckburg was in charge of the short program and Mrs. H. N. Parker arranged the table.

The program was musical with Carolyn and Janet Fanelli playing two piano duets and Christie Hiatt playing a solo.

The Gold Star mothers entertained were Mrs. Blanche Wasson, Mrs. Gertrude Tait, Mrs. Ralph Fanelli, Mrs. Elsie Jones, Mrs. Harold Donnelly, Mrs. James Klausen, Mrs. C. S. Gilbert, Mrs. John Schmidt, and Mrs. Clarence Bothe.

Wesleyan Guild
Mrs. Carl Scherer entertained the Wesleyan Service guild Thursday night with Mrs. Leslie Spencer and Mrs. Earl Kellen as assistants. Mrs. Arthur Clarke, president, presided at the business meeting during which election of officers was held. Mrs. Ray White was elected president; Mrs. Bert Hinrichs, secretary, and Miss Erna Hoffman, treasurer. The new officers will take over at the June meeting.

Mrs. Clarke had the program and she spoke on alcohol and on the narcotic habit.

Following supper, Mrs. Myron Blee, as toastmistress, presided for the program. Group singing was led by Mrs. Arthur Clarke. Cristie Hiatt played a piano solo. Following a toast by the toastmistress to daughters and to mothers, Mrs. Clarke sang.

Helen Laws presented "Forgotten Witness," a dramatic reading. Miss Jan Fegley played "Gallapade" by Lake. Mrs. Blee introduced Mrs. Marvin Sisler who made the following awards: the oldest mother award was shared by Mrs. Mae Thompson and Mrs. Bertha Bellows and they received carnations; Mrs. Donald Stone received a flower as the youngest mother; Mrs. William Morrissey, a guest, received her flower for having the most children. There were several groups of three generations present.

The committee who planned the occasion was Mrs. Marvin Sisler, Mrs. Arthur Clarke, Mrs. William Wadleigh, and Mrs. Charles Whitebread.

New Army Bill

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) said he would introduce in the house today a bill authorizing cost-of-living adjustments in the base pay of armed forces personnel.

Van Zandt said he would propose tying military pay to the labor department's cost of living index which some labor unions and private industries use in computing pay raises under the so-called "escalator" clauses in wage contracts.

Fire Damages Moore Home At Nelson

NELSON—A fire occurred Thursday morning about 10:30 when the small cottage belonging to Joseph Moore and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pierce, caught fire from a curtain which blew over an open flame stove.

The interior of the house was completely wrecked by fire and water with slight damage to the house. The household furnishings were not insured, but Moore had full coverage on the house. The Nelson fire tank and the Rock falls fire department responded to the alarm. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have gone to Tampico to visit his parents until proper adjustments can be made.

Perfect Attendance

Pupils of the Nelson Grammar School, having perfect attendance for the month of April, are: upper grades, Joseph McDonald, Larry Bizzarri, Paul Timmons, Gary Sharp, Ralph Miner, Patrick Moore, Edward Gale, Allen Weber, Cecil Hunter, Beverly Hunter, Lola Salmon, Betty Janssen, Gayle Sharp and Philip Lennon. Primary grades, Danny Wilder, Geraldine Holaday, Linda Waller, Mary Jo Thompson, Donald Schoaf, Lee Hollingsworth, Nancy Jo Hamilton, Tommy Wilder and David Gall.

Correction

A recent article written in regard to the Nelson school graduation and "field day," was incorrectly stated and should have read: The trip to Chicago will be on Wednesday, May 23. All pupils making the trip should be at the school house by 7 a. m. DST.

The buses leave promptly at 7:30. One bus will take the upper grades and one bus the lower grades. Each student will furnish his own lunch. Both upper and lower grades will visit the Brookfield zoo and the United Airlines airport. The graduation exercises will be held Monday, May 28, beginning at 8 p. m. at the Nelson school.
